How to Fill Your Prescription

Texas Compassionate Use Program (TCUP)

A Few Things to Know First

There Is No Physical Card in Texas

Texas does not issue a medical cannabis card. Your prescription lives in the Compassionate Use Registry of Texas (CURT). The moment your prescription is entered, you are active and can place an order.

Your Prescription Is Good for 1 Year (unless you selected the 3-month option)

You typically receive a reminder about 1 month before it expires.

Choose Your Preferred Dispensary Each Order

You can order from any, or all, of the TCUP state-licensed dispensaries. They each carry different products.

Placing Your Order

1. Visit the dispensary websites listed above.
2. Select your products. If you received specific product recommendations, look for those first.
3. Choose pickup or delivery. Both are available. Check the dispensary websites for an updated list of brick-and-mortar walk-in locations. Each pickup location has specific order cut-off times, which you can find on the dispensary's website.
4. Complete your order and pay the dispensary directly.
5. Bring a government-issued ID when you pick up (driver's license, passport, or state ID). Have the same government-issued ID ready for delivery, too.

Adding an Authorized Pickup Person

If you would like a spouse, family member, or caregiver to pick up your medication for you, contact your physician's office with their first and last name so they can be added to your prescription. They will need to bring their own government-issued ID at pickup.

Only Use Licensed Dispensaries

The dispensaries listed above are the only legal sources of medical cannabis through TCUP. Hemp stores, smoke shops, and online CBD retailers are not part of the program. Their products are not held to the same testing standards and may contain synthetic cannabinoids, inconsistent doses, or contaminants.

Questions about your prescription, your products, or your dosing should be directed to your prescribing physician's office.
